The Save Bennachie Campaign Team

A small group of individuals, passionate about protecting Bennachie from the proposed re-routing of the A96 called a public meeting in the tiny village of Chapel of Garioch in November 2015 to see if anyone else out there shared our concerns.

Over 50 people turned up, and the Save Bennachie Campaign was formed. Little could we know that we would be deluged with public support as individuals, local and national community bodies, environmental, outdoor and business groups joined forces in what became the Save Bennachie Alliance. The Alliance membership now represents tens of thousands of people.

In securing the support of all North-East politicians on the need to protect Bennachie, we have achieved something quite unique-an issue they can all agree upon!

The Core Team of nine volunteers, all with very different backgrounds, are driven by the need to protect Aberdeenshire's iconic hill-unspoiled-for future generations to enjoy.

From the outset, our ethos has been to run a positive and constructive campaign to engage with and influence the decision makers.

Save Bennachie is a strictly non-political campaign - Bennachie is way above party politics.
